Introduction

This book is a compilation of jokes and quips.

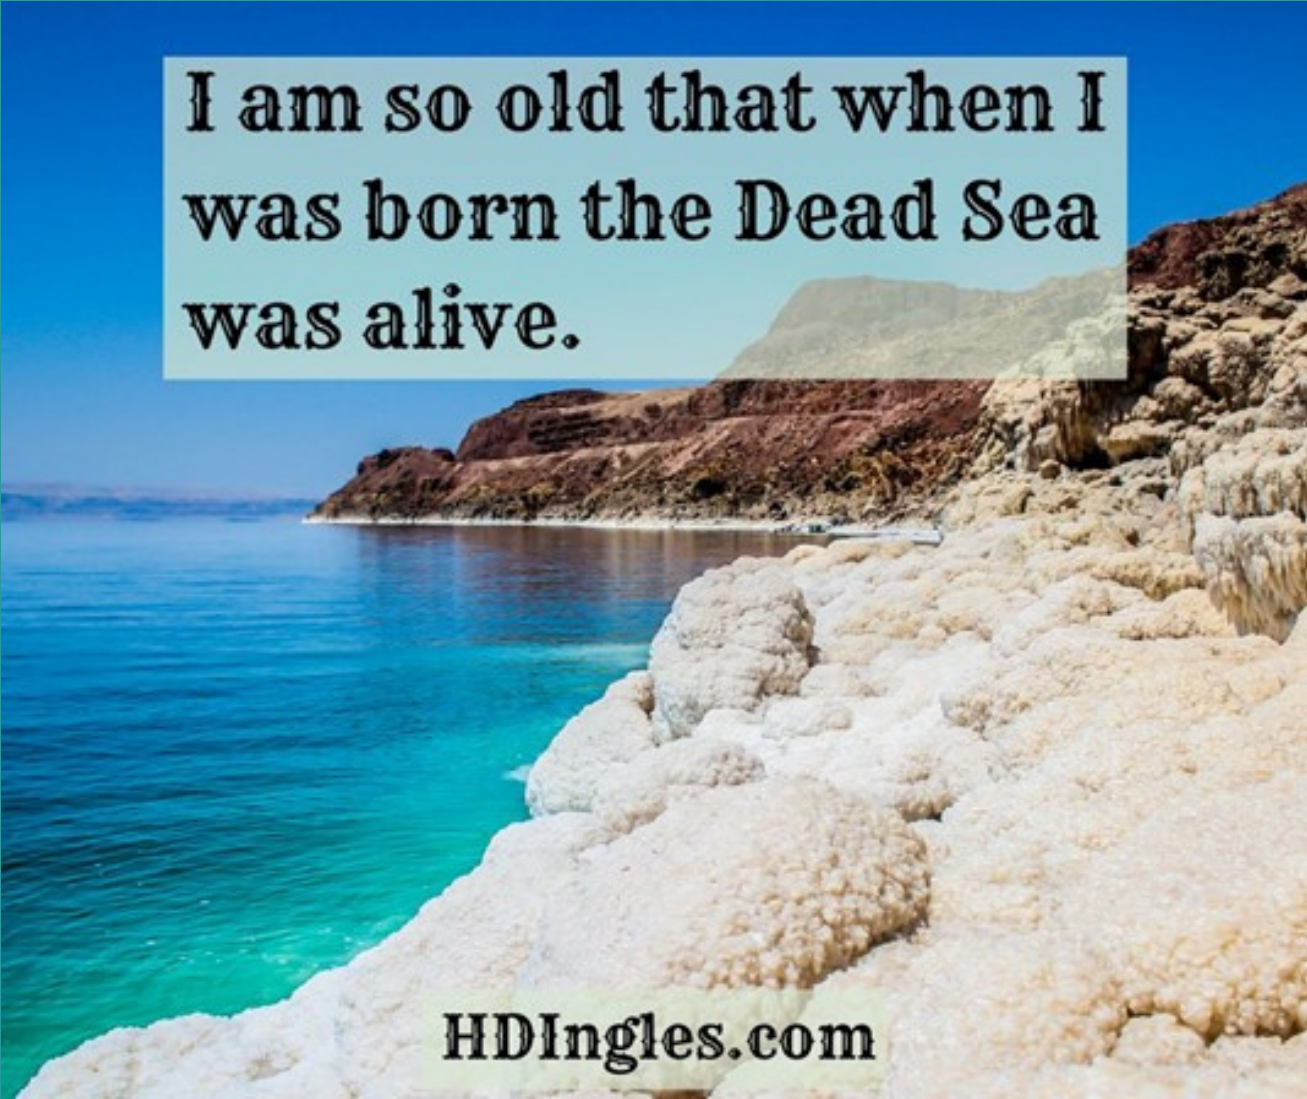

Some of the jokes are so old they are new. I hope they still make you laugh.

Feel free to share.

Thank you for signing up for my newsletter.

Here Goes:

I am so old that when I was born the Dead Sea was alive.

Ode To Bow-Legged Men:

What manner of men are these

Who wear their balls in parentheses?

A close-up photograph of a wine glass tilted to the left, with a stream of red wine being poured into it from the top left. The wine is dark red and creates bubbles as it falls. The background is a solid, light blue color. The text is overlaid on a semi-transparent yellow rectangular box in the center-right of the image.

Great romantic poetry:
Drink to me only with thine eyes
And I will drink your wine.

There is a lot in the news about China's President Eleven ...

Hold on, I mean
President XI.

Son: "Daddy, how long until Christmas?"

Daddy: "Son, do you know what the monkey said when he cut his tail off?"

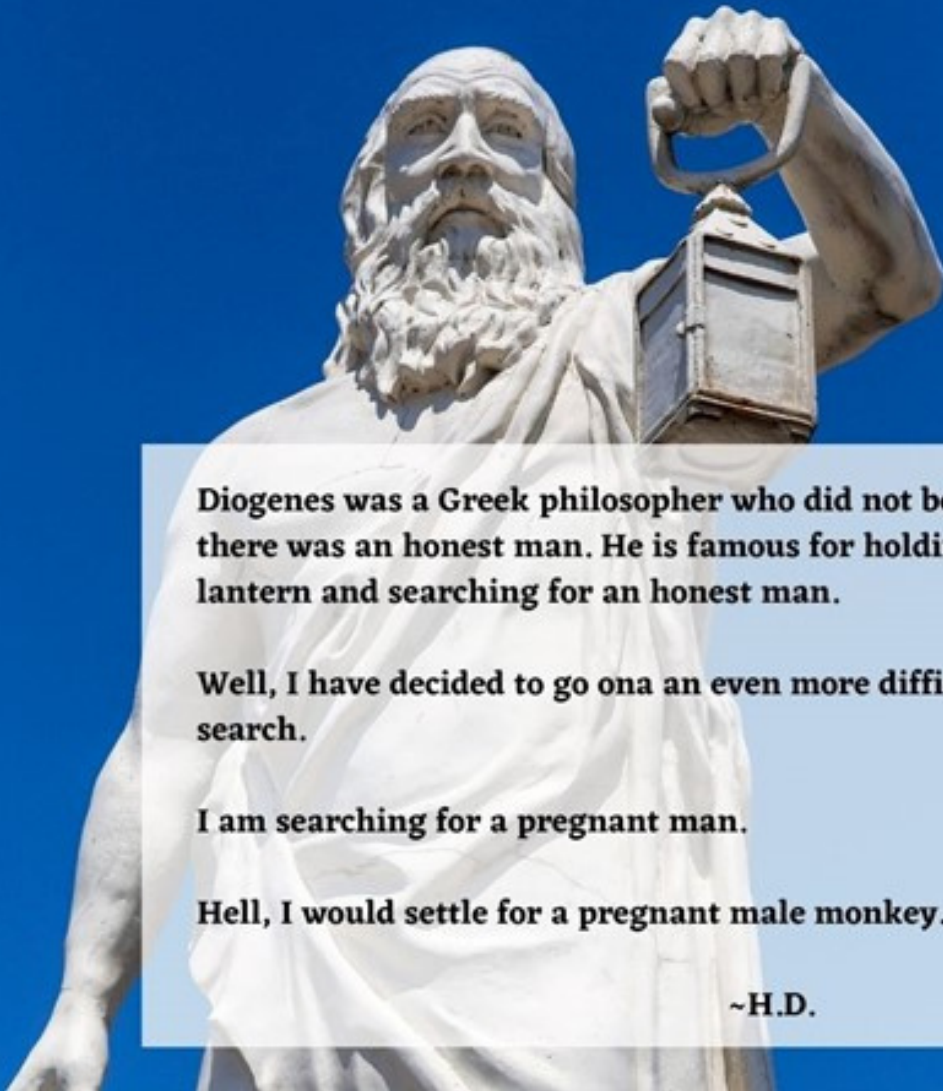

"No."

"It won't be long now."

You know, my mother was born in 1899, and after she was about three, nobody had to tell her that a 400 degree oven was hot.

Diogenes was a Greek philosopher who did not believe there was an honest man. He is famous for holding a lantern and searching for an honest man.

Well, I have decided to go on an even more difficult search.

I am searching for a pregnant man.

Hell, I would settle for a pregnant male monkey.

I don't drink and I don't chew.
And I don't go with girls what do.

I have lived a long time and I have understood many things.

But, for the life of me, I have never understood how not taking a college final exam could have an impact on the war in Vietnam.

Reporter interviewing famous English Knight:

Did you ever use a pistol?

No, but I do Lancealot.

Henny Youngman was the master of the “wife joke”.

“My wife read that most accidents happen within 25 miles of home, so she wanted to move.”

Advice to My Grandson

"Son, did you hear about the mouse that ran across the railroad tracks?"

"No, tell me."

"Well, son, this mouse ran across some railroad tracks, and a train came along and cut off the tip of his tail. The mouse stopped running and thought that he might be able to have the tip of his tail sewn back on, so he ran back to fetch it. Can you guess what happened next?"

"No."

"Well, son, another train came along and cut off his head."

"I don't understand what you are telling me."

"Son, don't lose your head over a little piece of tail."

I will always remember something my father used to say. “I don’t want to be rich. I just want a dollar more than I need.”

Think about it.

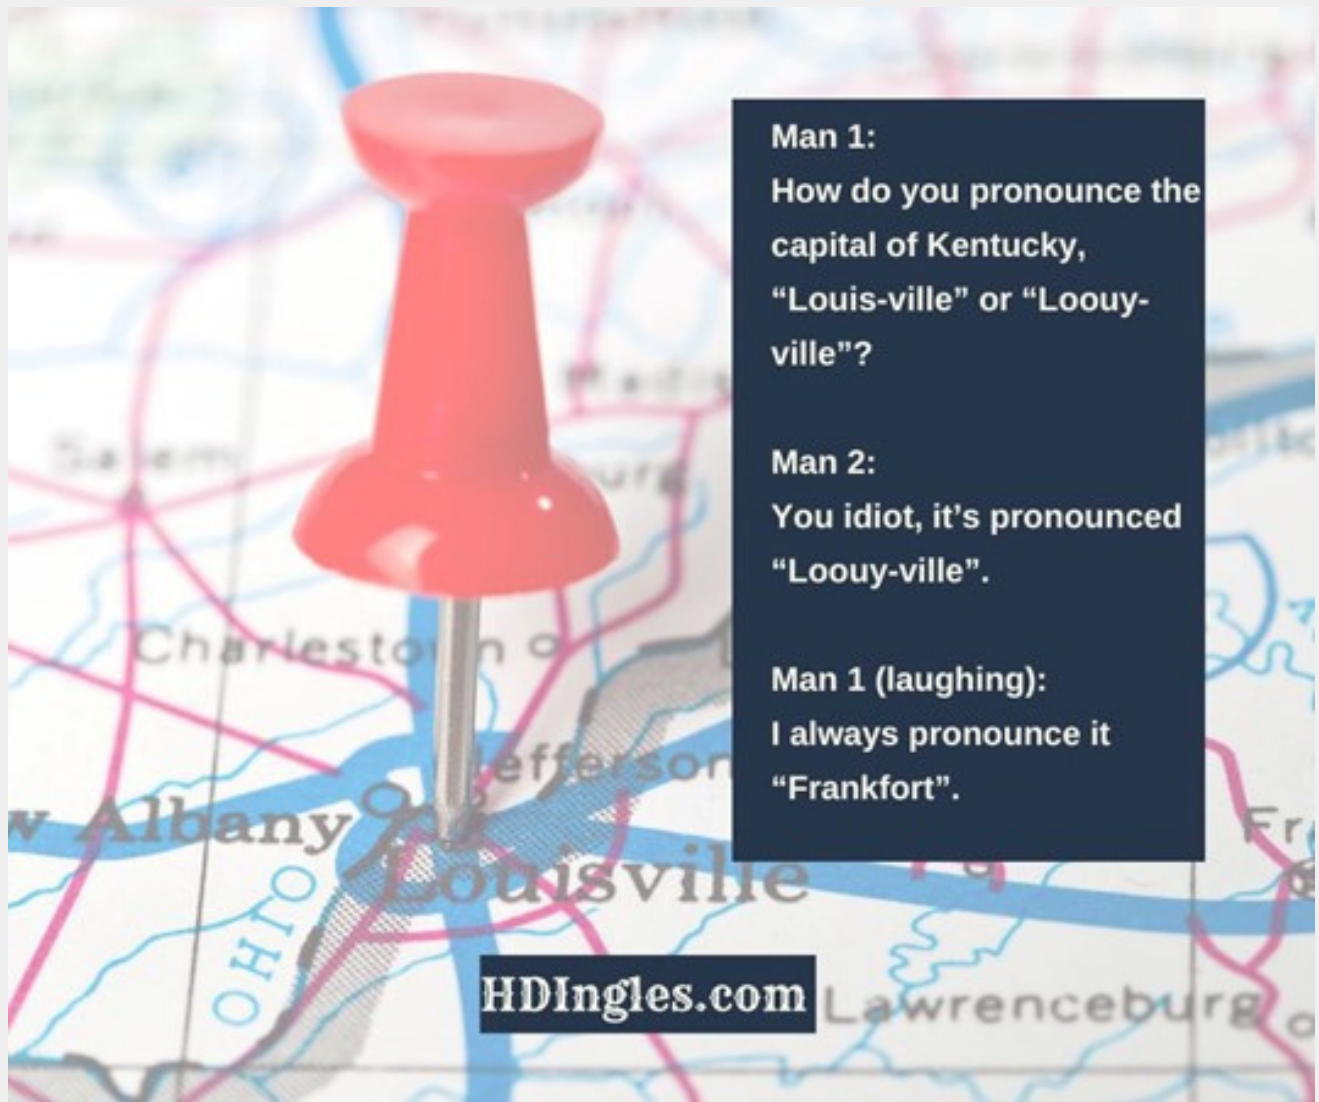

You have a buck in your pocket and you walk into a new car dealership.

You say, “How much is that one?”

“$200,000”

You reach in your pocket and pull out $200,001.

You drive off in your new car and you have a buck in your pocket.

Man 1:
How do you pronounce the capital of Kentucky,
“Louis-ville” or “Loouyville”?

Man 2:
You idiot, it’s pronounced “Loouy-ville”.

Man 1 (laughing):
I always pronounce it “Frankfort”.

Note: If you don't remember the 1960s, you may not get this one.

Little Johnny's mother signed him up for a role in the Church Christmas pageant.

Johnny was only 11, and he wasn't happy. He couldn't remember names.

Johnny's older brother told him to write the names on the inside waistband of his pants.

Standing in front of all those people, Johnny was terrified.

He said, "This is a story of Christmas. It is about"

He forgot the name.

He took a peek at his waistband and said, "Jesus" He forgot the next name.

He took a peek at his waistband and said, "and Mary" He forgot the next name.

He took a peek at his waistband and said, "and Robert Hall."

I think I made a pun in French, and I don't speak French.

Hickory dickory dock,

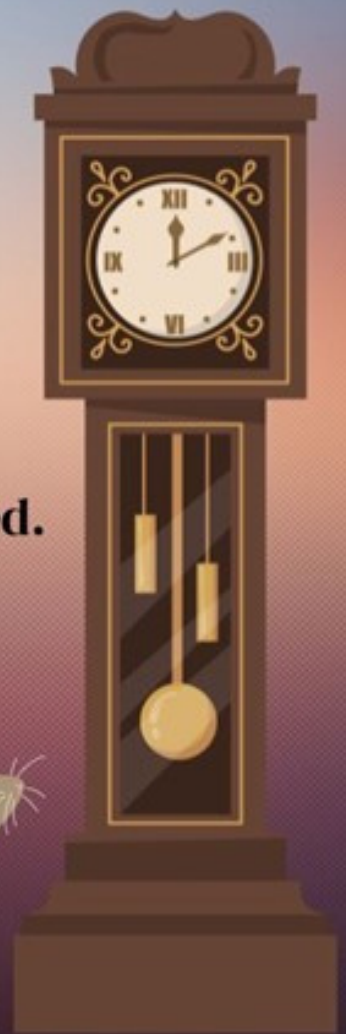

Three mice ran up the clock.

The clock struck one.

Luckily, the other two were unharmed.

Did you hear about the plastic surgeon who hung himself?

Little Johnny walks to the store to buy bread.

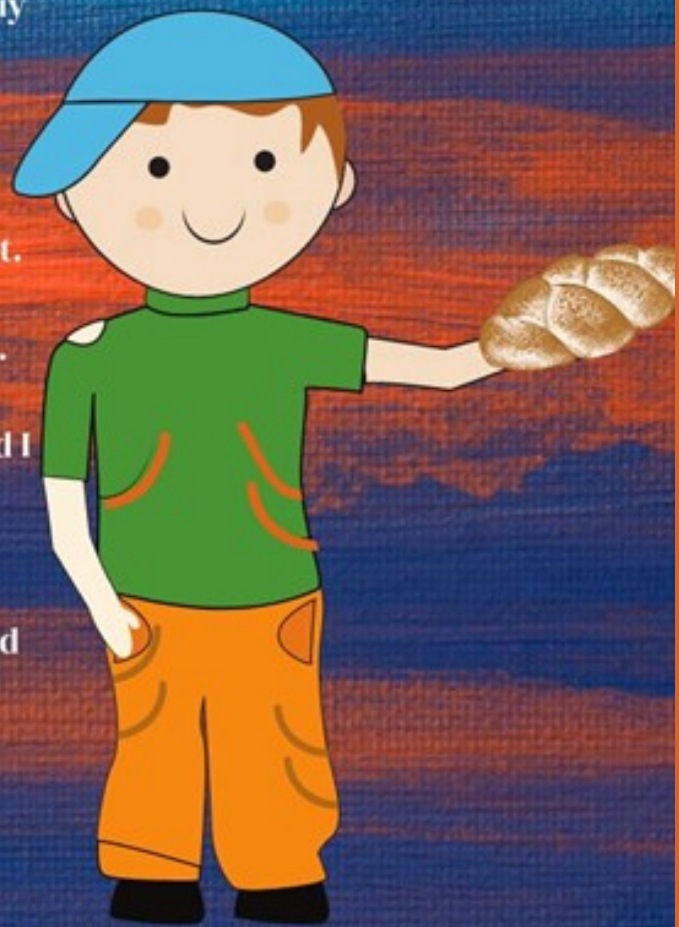

As he leaves the store, Johnny has a loaf of bread in his left hand and his right hand is deep in his pants pocket.

Johnny encounters the village priest.

The priest says, "Johnny, in one hand I see you are holding the staff of life. What are you holding in the other?"

Johnny looks at the priest as if the old man were a fool and says, "A loaf of bread."

Man 1:

How do you pronounce
the white of an egg,
“yoke” or “yolk”?

Man 2:

You idiot, it’s pronounced “yoke”.

Man 1 (laughing):

I always pronounce it
“white of an egg”.

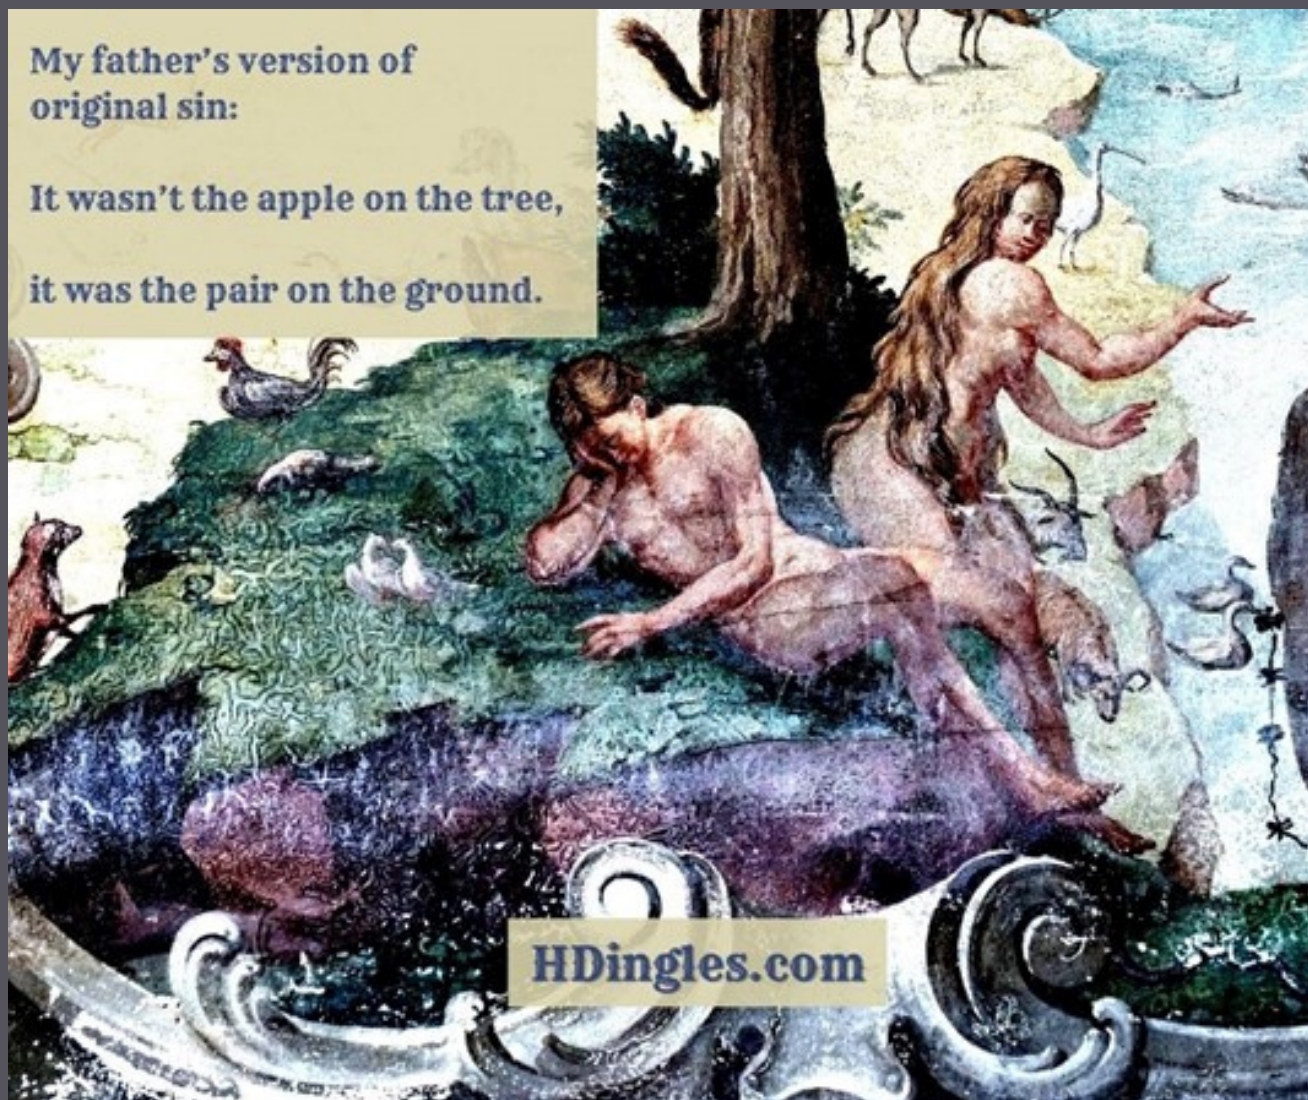

The truth of centuries.
Ro-me-owed what Juli-ette.

My feeble mind wanders.
Why is it that a man wears a pair of pants and not a pair of shirts?

My father's version of original sin:

It wasn't the apple on the tree,
it was the pair on the ground.

A man walks into a bar with his dog.

The bartender says, "No dogs allowed."

The man says, "But this is a special dog, he talks."

The bartender says, "You bet. Get out of here."

The man says, "Let me show you."

The man says to the dog, "What's on the top of a house?"

The dog says, "Ruff."

The bartender says, "Get out of here."

The man says to the dog, "What's the texture of sandpaper?"

The dog says, "Ruff."

The bartender says, "Get out of here."

The man says to the bartender, "Please give me one more chance."

The man says to the dog, "Who was the greatest baseball player?"

The dog says, "Ruff."

The bartender says, "Get out of here or I'm going to throw you out."

The man and his dog are walking down the street.

The dog looks at the man and says, "Was it Gehrig?"

To all of you mathematicians out there:

Pie are not square.

Pie are round.

Cornbread are square.

The Sunday School teacher asked little Johnny, “Where was Jesus born?”

“Allentown.”

“No, Johnny, he was born in Bethlehem.”

“Well, I knew it was somewhere in the Lehigh Valley.”

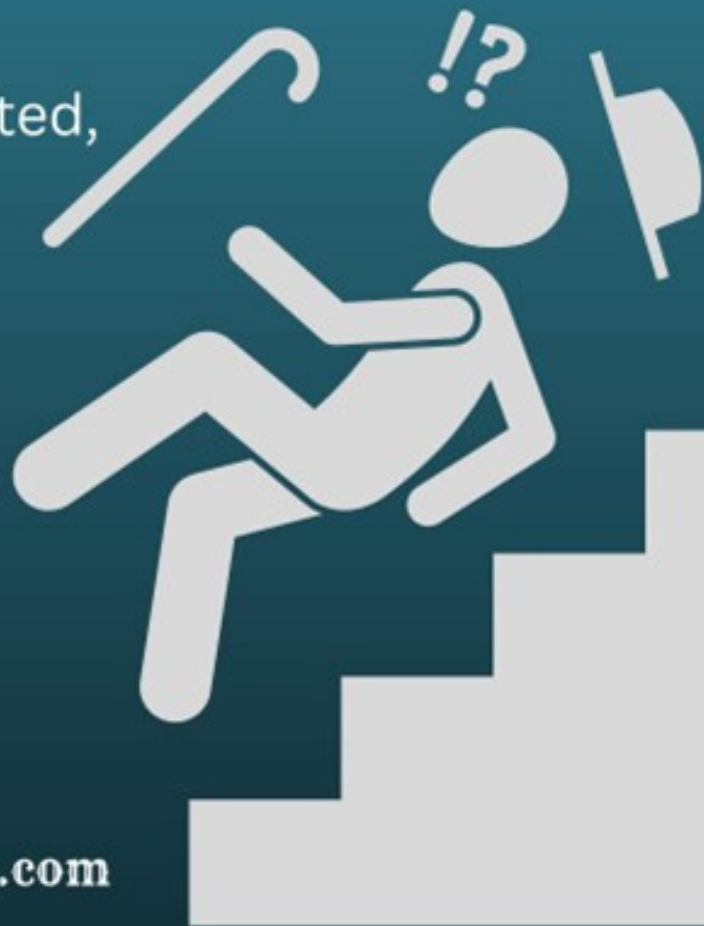

Something Daddy used to recite:

It's too late now

The captain shouted,

As he staggered

Down the stairs.

Something Daddy used to recite:

It was down in Old Kentucky,
Where they never get the blues.

Where the captain killed the colonel

And the colonel killed the booze.

The doctor says, "You are getting up there, just take it easy and no excitement."

Old man says, "I'm getting married tomorrow."

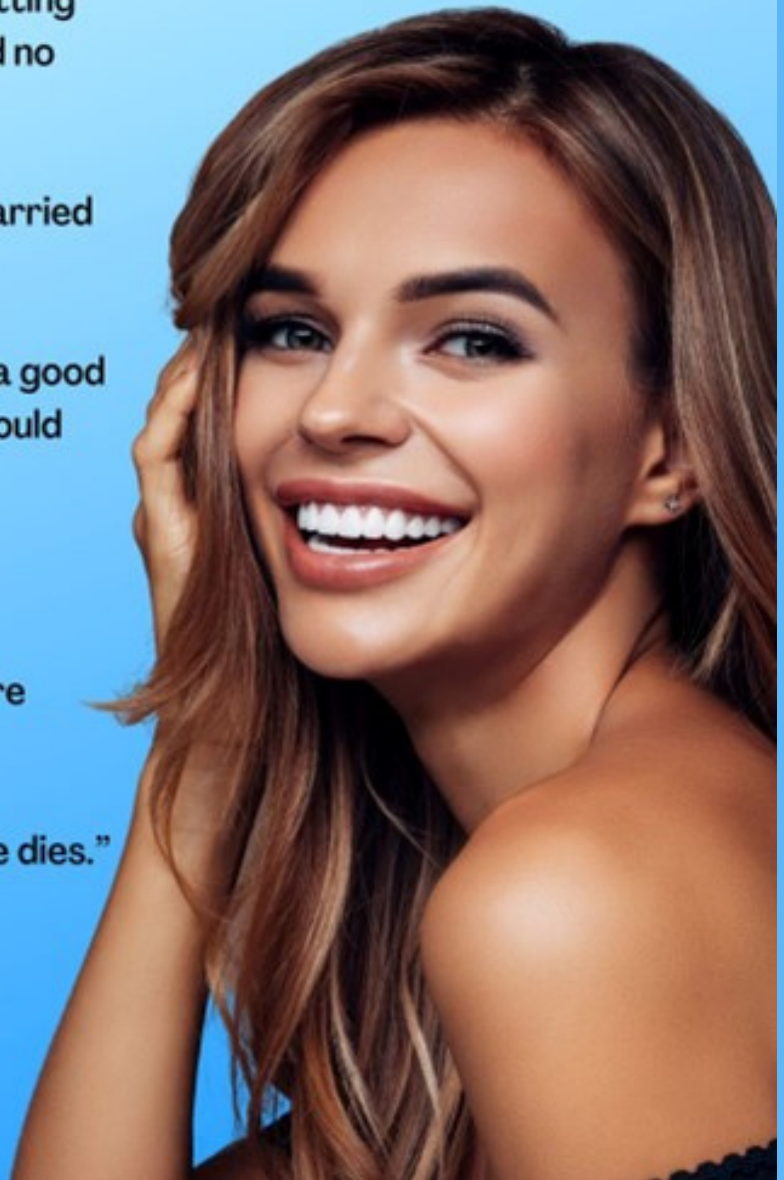

Doctor says, "That might be a good idea. You and an older lady would comfort each other."

Old man says, "She is 26."

Doctor says, "My God, you are 82. That could be fatal."

Old man says, "If she dies, she dies."

Sometimes, I am confused.

I smoke like a fish and drink like a steam engine.

Watch your language.

Which would you rather have?

- A good used car.
- A well-used car.
